- 1- The one big possible idea would be based around D-Day (June 6th)
It will be the 80th anniversary.
There isn't a lot of time to organize it, but we will try.
The event will probably be on Saturday 8th June or Sunday 9th June.
Holding it in the Falcon yard would be the best option, the marquee should be up by then.
We could still run a hog-roast, possibly offering it for free.
We should ask Steve Croft about using his field as a back up.
The old village hall site would also be a possibility.
Fancy dress would be a good idea.
Paul would create a Withernwick at war display.
This would be very much a test case, to see how people respond.
We would need to ask for donations.
We could run activities that don't take up a lot of space.
